GENERAL NEWS.

Particulars of the Northern Pacific Railroad Accident.

OSCAR WILDE COMING TO THE PACIFIC COAST

Death of Admiral Spotts at Falkland Islands—Notes from the Southern Floods

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

Bismarck, March [illegible]—[illegible] the Northern Pacific railroad [illegible] miles west of Bismarck [illegible]. The train was [illegible] sleeping car for [illegible] and fifty [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] track and [illegible] until the bridge was reached when the first sleeper which had twenty four men on board was precipitated into the river, thirty feet below, striking on its side. The second sleeper fell [illegible] in the same way, and then the dining car and kitchen car tumbled down and were broken into splinters. The building of sleeper No. [illegible] caught fire at once and the dying sufferers were nearly roasted alive. All the deaths were in this car. Those who escaped tried vainly to put out the flames. It is believed seven or eight of the killed were unconscious before the flames reached them. Only one voice was heard crying "Help," but no help could be given him and he gradually roasted to death. The killed were A. H. Johnson, Thos. Wilson, Wm. Watson, Thos. Grady, Geo. Moser, Jas. O'Brien, Wm. H. Andrews and an unknown man. Only two of the others were seriously injured. The coroner found nobody to blame for the accident. The dead were interred here and the sick are being tenderly cared for.

Fast Mail Service.

New York, March 23.—Postmaster Gen. Howe was interviewed this morning regarding the proposed reduction of time in sending mails to and from New York and San Francisco and other western points. "I have a hope," said Howe, "if congress makes the appropriations proposed by the senate for special facilities for transportation of mails on trunk lines, we may arrange a schedule which will send the mail from New York to the west or San Francisco and get a return in three days less than it takes now. It takes thirteen days at present to do this now. Mails are carried on all railway trains and go when passengers go. This subjects mails to slow time and frequent delays. Mails for the west now lie in Chicago about four hours and in Omaha and Kansas City three hours more. The railroad companies themselves will have to be consulted as to the method of overcoming these delays, whether it shall be done by chartering one fast train between New York and Denver over the Union Pacific 24 hours ahead of the present time, or whether it shall be done by expediting all passenger trains between here and the Pacific are questions to be answered only by railroad companies themselves. The public ought to have the service and the department wants to supply it. If the appropriation suggested will pay for it the time of transportation of mails to the Pacific will have to change with the railroad schedule. In Boston, at our meeting, it was the opinion that one fast mail train mentioned should start from New York. The only time it can start is in the morning about 4:30 o'clock, arriving in San Francisco at 7 A. M., five days later. We don't care to send mail matter to Chicago in less than 24 hours. My theory is to lay the backbone for the establishment of fast mail service on trunk lines between the two oceans, and then put on attachments or improvements as fast as we can."

Collector Robertson Explains.

New York, March 23.—In regard to the Peruvian [illegible] investigation Collector Robertson said this morning, "I have read the testimony given by Shipherd yesterday before the house committee, and so far as the testimony relates to me, Shipherd has stated the facts tersely and fairly. I was employed by the Peruvian Co. to examine questions affecting the company and give my legal opinion. This I did and was paid for it, and this comprises my entire connection with the company. The question that I was asked to examine was concerning the title of the company to claims made against the Peruvian government. Further than this I have nothing to say."

Explosion.

Philadelphia, March 23.—The tugboat Henry C. Spratt exploded her boiler this morning, killing four men. Geo. Scully, the captain, was blown over the house tops into Water street. The dead bodies of Bernard McCan and Patrick Flanagan, firemen, and a man named Malony were recovered. John Lyons, engineer, and two others are missing. Immediately following the explosion flames broke out in all directions. Pier No. 8, occupied as a passenger and freight station, by the Atlantic City railroad took fire and was destroyed. The tug Ella Lynch, at the wharf, also took fire and sank after being well burned. Windows were shattered in all directions for squares. Three dead bodies were found in the street. The engineer has been found, having had a very narrow escape. The front of the ferry house building was blown out, and the watchman came near losing his life.

A Smallpox Scare at Des Moines.

Chicago, March 23.—Evening Journal's Des Moines, Iowa, special: Smallpox developed in the county jail yesterday, creating consternation among the county inmates and among the court and county officials. The jail being under the court house, court adjourned in haste. The premises are quarantined and two convicts removed to the pest house. Doctors disagree as to the diagnosis of the case.

Has a Salutary Effect.

The effect of the decision of the supreme court at Ottawa, according to later information, is to reverse the findings of the county court and to remand the case. This practically settles the validity of the probate court and prevents the legal chaos which was imminent. Two of the supreme judges changed their opinion, expressed in the previous decision, and two of the seven judges, Scott and Walker, dissented.

Illinois Legislative Proceedings.

Springfield, Ills., March 23.—The state legislature met at noon to-day in called session, heard the governor's message, and after transaction of a little business adjourned. The message refers to the various reasons for calling the session, namely, reapportionment, revision of criminal code and the canal question.

Temperance Resolutions.

Columbus, March 23.—Richard Smith's temperance convention passed resolutions urging the legislature and government to combine to adopt the [illegible] amendment to the liquor law to regulate sale of liquor and maintain sanctity of the Sabbath.

Oscar Coming West.

Omaha, March 23.—Oscar Wilde, who lectured here last night to a large audience, left to-day for San Francisco. He has a three weeks' engagement on the Pacific coast.

Cannot Recover Damages.

Kansas, March 23.—Judge Love, of the U. S. court decides that plaintiff cannot recover from the telegraph company on account of failure to send a dispatch to Chicago ordering purchase of options, because the laws of business forbid option trading.

Chicago will see Rest Easier.

Chicago, March 23.—Ottawa, Ills. special brings intelligence that the state supreme court decides that probate courts in Illinois are legally constituted. The decision was on a rehearing, and reverses previous demoralizing decision of the court.

Wheat Elevator Burned.

River Falling at Yazoo.

Yazoo City, March 23.—The river is falling. Extreme suffering reported on Tallahatchie, is greatly exaggerated and the supposed exodus from Yazoo delta, about ended.

Laramie City in Terror.

Cheyenne, Wy., March 23.—A reign of terror prevails at Laramie city. Incendiaries have been at work for four nights past and fires occurred every night. Some of them were very costly, and make no distinction as to the class of property, railroad buildings, hotels and dwelling houses suffering alike. Vigilantes have been patroling the streets for three nights, and ran in about twenty strangers, but fires would start up on all sides, and the prisoners were released. The terror is great, because people don't know what to expect next, nor do they know whom to suspect. There will be a necktie party if the offenders are caught.

The trial of Charles Pierounett for the murder of Wm. Graves a year ago is in progress at Laramie.

Two nights ago vigilantes of Rawlins, Wyoming lynched two men named James Lacey and Bob Rodbock, who had burglarized several houses and planned to rob the bank, when a pal gave them away.

Mine Sold.

Leadville, March 22.—The Hibernian mine and all its property was sold by the sheriff to-day for $50,750. C. J. Howell is the purchaser.

The City of Berlin was gaily decorated yesterday, it being the anniversary of the Emperor William's birthday.

The house naval committee recommends an appropriation of $2,400,000 to complete unfinished monitors.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Anti-Chinese Bill Approved by the House—Continuation of the Shipherd Investigation

Washington, March [illegible] [illegible]

The Shipherd Investigation

Washington, March [illegible] [illegible] Shipherd [illegible] Blaine [illegible] Shipherd was [illegible] Blaine [illegible] What were the reasons [illegible] Blaine [illegible] the secretary [illegible] in his capacity [illegible]

Witness [illegible] would like to reserve [illegible] answer until the committee should have decided whether this matter should be gone into at the present time.

Blount then asked what were the inducements which impelled him to seek the services of the members of congress who had declined, whether it was on account of their supposed influence with the executive or for the purpose of obtaining their advice as lawyers.

Witness—It was for purely personal reasons to the member himself as distinguished from any influence he might render in any event as a member of congress. Witness declined to give the name at present and demurred to stating the details of any purely personal transactions. Some discussion on the part of the committee ensued as to whether they should pursue this inquiry at present.

Chairman stated that Shipherd desired to be excused from further examination this morning on account of his health and perhaps it would be better to pass on this request before proceeding with further examination. The question was therefore waived for the present. Witness produced a copy of his letter to the president of May 21st and explained it had been sent him by his [illegible], who had been requested to make a copy from his letter book and that he after critical examination was prepared to say it was a correct copy. It was then read.

Sir—I enclose herewith the first copies of, First, the prospectus of the Peruvian Co.; and second, the draft of the memorandum for agreement with Peru; third, ditto account of sinking fund scrip; fourth, ditto [illegible] of title pursuant to intimation in my letter of the 28th ult. The Peruvian government having no diplomatic agent in this country I have been in free consultation with its senior representative, T. F. Tracy, consul in this city. Tracy is son of an American merchant formerly resident at Lima and who married a Peruvian lady, and was born and bred in Peru. For something like twenty five years he has held his present post and seems to be very intelligent as to both Peruvian and Chilian affairs, certainly a keenly alive to Peruvian interests. As to the Cochet claim he says this is little known to the present generation, having disappeared from the contest in [illegible] when Cochet returned finally to France, and being almost immediately succeeded by the Landreau claim but that no disposition to contest it is probable when presented, as we are now ready to present it, since we shall come to the relief of the prostrate country almost at the critical moment. Of course he speaks for his own people only. Chili, flushed with victory and destroying with vandal hands what[ever] she cannot destroy [illegible] will scarcely submit readily to surrender her great prize even when offered, as we offer her a liberal war indemnity. But if the issue is between commercial creditors with original rights and a mere intruder [illegible] that the solution, however distasteful to the vanquished or victorious will [illegible] easy. Moreover all advices agree that Chili herself is not content with the present outlook. All neighboring republics are now jealous of her and [illegible] [illegible] or a protectorate she should seek permanent enlargement of her power she would but enter upon a long and perilous [illegible]. If on the other hand she should now retire having tasted all the legitimate fruits of real victory and with her war indemnity insured it would be a fortunate ending for her as well as for others. Latest advices [illegible] more than ordinary anxiety in high quarters at Santiago to find some such solution of the serious problem of a white elephant. While the interests of my client are purely monetary the protection involves at the outset international questions of such magnitude that they see no other course so proper as to lay before the president facts and avail themselves at every step of such formal or informal support as he may think fit to favor them with. As far however as they have gone they have planned to avoid [illegible] and are supported by general assurances that the executive will protect them as far as he under the law may rightly; they anticipate no difficulty in peaceably consummating all interests by direct commercial negotiation without other governmental aid than that above indicated. An examination of the papers herewith submitted will show the situation in outline to be this. I have the honor to remain the president's obedient servant, JACOB R. SHIPHERD.

At the conclusion of the reading Shipherd said he had been engaged in a lively flirtation with neuralgia, which had deprived him of rest and unfitted him for [illegible]. He would therefore crave the indulgence of the commission and asked to be excused for the day. Adjourned.

A Complicated Case.

New York, March 23.—A Washington correspondent of the Mail and Express says: It has leaked out that there are some curious complications growing out of the proposed appointment of Senator Teller for secretary of the interior. It appears that Grant and Logan and a number of prominent republicans were desirous that Chaffee should be appointed to the position, and they presented his name to the president, who said he would give the matter full and careful consideration. After weighing the subject for some time, he came to the conclusion that it was not expedient to make the appointment which the gentlemen requested. The disappointment of Grant and Logan was naturally very great and the president in order to make amends as far as possible, suggested that he had no objection to appointing Teller to the position and that he presumed that Teller's friends and the people of Colorado would induce the governor of that state to appoint Chaffee as Teller's successor. This state of affairs seems entirely satisfactory to Chaffee's friends especially to Grant and Logan. Teller was requested to call at the White House last Saturday and the president made him a formal tender of the position on condition that Chaffee should be appointed by the governor as his successor. This fact coming to the knowledge of Senator Hill and Representative Belford they set to work immediately to frustrate it and it is said some lively telegraphing has been going on for the past 24 hours between Washington and Colorado. Senator Hill called at the White House yesterday but failing to see the president left word with a cabinet officer that the appointment of Teller under the conditions named would be very distasteful to the republican party of Colorado and both he and Belford entered their solemn protests against the arrangement. Thus matters remain at present. In the meantime Gov. Pitkin is understood to be undecided what course he shall pursue in regard to the appointment of Chaffee in event of Teller's nomination. He is understood to be very desirous, as are also the people of Colorado, that they should secure the important office of secretary of the interior, and this fact may induce the governor to waive his objections and appoint Chaffee as requested. If so, Teller's appointment will follow. Should however, the opponents of Chaffee, Hill, Belford and others, prevail upon the governor to decline to accede to the request of Chaffee and friends the probabilities are that Teller will not get the position.

Star Route Cases Postponed.

The cases of the United States against T. J. Brady, ex-Senator Dorsey, H. M. Vail and others defendants in star route cases was called in criminal court this morning. None of the defendants were in court. Counsel for defense said they were not prepared to plead. Col. Bliss said the government had waited long enough. He understood one of the principal defendants had shown his appreciation of the importance of the case against him by leaving this city for New Mexico. He stated Stephen W. Dorsey had not been placed under bonds and asked the court to compel his attendance. Col. Ingersoll said there was no need of such proceedings; there was nothing in the charges to cause Dorsey's flight. He is no more afraid of them than is hunger of mince pie. Prosecution however insisted on Dorsey's arrest and court said it was their privilege to have the order issued. Hearing was then postponed until Saturday next.

Teller's Nomination will Create Trouble.

Ex-Senator Chaffee of Colorado, was on the floor of the senate this afternoon. It is said he is here to meet General Grant and others in relation to the appointment of Senator Teller as secretary of the interior. It is stated to-day in high political circles if Governor Pitkin of Colorado will consent to appoint Chaffee senator Teller will at once be nominated for secretary of the interior. A telegram opposing Chaffee's appointment as senator has been sent from here by leading Colorado republicans. Senator Hill and Representative Belford have warned Pitkin against appointing Chaffee senator. Hill says he has no objection to the appointment of Teller as secretary of the interior and could not oppose him, but is satisfied that his people do not want Chaffee as senator.

Reported Favorably.

The senate committee on agriculture to-day reported favorably a bill to make the agricultural bureau an executive department.

Death of Admiral Spotts.

Secretary Hunt received a cable dated Montevideo stating that Admiral Spotts died at Stanley, Falkland Islands, March [illegible], of apoplexy and was buried there. He was appointed to the navy from Kentucky.

Sewers must be purified, so must our systems when full of bad blood. Purify with King of the Blood. See advertisement.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

The Chinese Bill Finally Passes the House.

THE VOTE STANDS 167 YEAS TO 65 NAYS.

House.

Washington, March [illegible] [illegible] the Chinese bill [illegible] relation of labor [illegible] migration [illegible]

[illegible] favor of the bill on the [illegible] [illegible] there was no recognized principle that the ignorant savage, barbarous, brutal, servile, dangerous or vicious element of any foreign nation was entitled to the right to enter our body politic and become part and parcel of our government. This being so, it became a pertinent and important question, whether the Chinese element was a safe and proper one for indiscriminate admission. Pure, genuine immigration was never eastward, always westward. The people who had made America what she is to-day, had all come from the east and not from fossilized Asia. The importation of Chinese [illegible] of the characteristics which should be possessed by citizens of the United States. They would not be citizens of the United States. They will not assimilate with the people of this country. They did not come to seek homes, and so firm was their adherence to their pagan gods and to their country that when their services were not needed they invariably returned. If they lived, or if dead their bones were sent to their own country by the six companies. If Chinese immigration were allowed to be unrestricted one of two results would follow: Chinamen must either be held in slavery or must become part of our body politic. Which would it be, serf or citizen? The west was only asking for what the east had had for years, protection of American labor. Cheap labor was not the American policy. He [illegible] Mongolian cheap labor free American labor must retire or starve. Remembering the past and looking to the future, he announced his firm conviction that there was an irrepressible conflict, which would continue until one system or the other prevailed. Paganism with cheap labor or civilization with free labor, which should it be? Mongolian or American. That was the question for congress to decide.

McLane said, when the bill, which he regarded as full of merit and a protection defending [illegible] workingmen in this country was denounced as iniquitous and as a violation of the treaty and of its stipulations he felt called on to indicate the vote which he intended to cast in support of the measure. It was not necessary for him to reply to the general assumption that men of Africa or China and of Europe were free to come to this country with the permission of our people. No intercourse had ever been held with China by either Americans or Englishmen except under the thunders of British cannon and he was amused when he heard sentiment talking about free intercourse with China. Never was an American citizen allowed to go into China at all until he went under protection of British cannon. No American laborer could have ever made a treaty in that manner and so made under the same protection. This had continued until the Burlingame treaty had been entered into. McLane related some interesting incidents relative to the introduction of the bible into China and characteristics of the people of that country and he was listened to attentively by other members who assembled in the space in front of the speaker's desk and maintained universal silence. In 1854 McLane was appointed commissioner to China with powers of minister plenipotentiary and the fact that he was speaking from personal experience lent additional interest to his remarks. Coming down to consider the bill he argued that it was not in violation of the treaty and insisted that congress was the only tribunal which had power to declare the meaning of the term reasonable suspension.

Robinson (Massachusetts) inquired why the word prohibition had not been put in the treaty [illegible] the United States could suspend immigration without prohibiting it.

McLane replied that he knew very well when they were framing the treaty it was left to the discretion of the United States to declare what was suitable meant. If the suspension was reasonable the [illegible] of China had the right to [illegible] with the United States [illegible] [illegible]

R[obinson]—I supposed that he gave himself away to a Christian people and that he still trusted the American people to declare the meaning of reasonable according to good faith.

McLane—He thought the Christian nation was a "God of nations."

Robinson—And do my friend want him to find it as mean a dog as possible?

McLane—When the Chinese negotiators stipulated that we had the right to suspend immigration, he knew precisely what he had conceded. He knew he had conceded to us the right to suspend for an indefinite period. He knew that this country was in revolt and anarchy on this question, and that if he did not give us the right to suspend immigration congress would abrogate the treaty.

Kasson of Iowa stated that at the proper time he would offer amendments which would make it more acceptable to the average judgment of the house and country. He objected to the bill as it stood at present because it was hostile to the civilization of the United States, hostile to the traditions of the government and hostile to our system of dealing with foreigners. He admitted the demand of the Pacific coast for restriction of immigration of Chinese appealed to congress and to him with great force. Was there no middle ground which congress could take that would be in harmony with the history of the country and with justice and conscience of both sides of the house? Four fifths of the house would willingly grant any reasonable relief which the people of the Pacific states would accept, but he did not wish to be forced into the position of violating his conscience and the obligations of the United States under the treaty. He wanted to stop a mass of men coming, and changing American labor and life, but he did not favor the proposition which would hunt down any stray Chinaman who might stray across the border from Canada to him. It resembled that law that hunted down fugitive black men in days gone by.

Hammond of Georgia—Is it not true that up to the passage of the 15th amendment it was a crime for any black man to come into Indiana?

Kasson—I do not want to go back to that infamous system of legislation. Does the gentleman? (Applause on the republican side.)

Hammond—I wanted to point out your hypocrisy.

Kasson—"Call it what you please; it was as moral as you could make it." He then proceeded to argue that a bill should be framed which would not operate against individual stray foreigners coming from China, which should do exactly what the treaty stipulated could be done, not founded on prejudice, but upon the just demand of the people of California, that the mass of immigration should be stopped. Such a bill he would prefer. In the intercourse which the United States had had with China we had found nothing but an earnest desire on the part of the latter government to express its confidence in good faith of our people, and we should in return show that we deserved that confidence. Looking at the question from purely a commercial standpoint it was to the interest of the United States to manifest more respect for the Chinese government. Let a bill be framed which would accomplish our object which was admitted to be just but which would not forfeit the friendship of the Chinese empire and would keep within the treaty and the assurances of honesty and good faith of the government and people of the United States.

Lord of Michigan, contended that the provisions of the bill were contrary to treaty stipulation. If the term of suspension were made reasonable, if the period were reduced to ten years, he would vote for the bill but would be so reluctantly even then because he regarded it as a departure from the cardinal principles on which was founded the structure of our government on this continent.

Tucker, of Virginia addressed himself to the consideration of the question as to whether the pending bill was in violation of treaty stipulation, and laid down the proposition that a treaty making power could not divest congress of any powers delegated to it by the constitution. This treaty was subject to the sanction or consummation of congress. Suppose that the treaty was a good one, was there any violation of it in this bill? What was it? To prohibit immigration? To prevent without limit? What was to suspend it? To prohibit for a time but not absolutely. Congress might prohibit for six months, why not for six years? If for six years why not for ten, for twenty? The limitation was that it should be reasonable. Immigration should only be suspended long enough to make secure the threat of danger, and that was the question for congress to determine. Why was ten years more reasonable than twenty years? In what respect? He asserted that the question should be determined by consideration of the time when the danger which threatened the country should have passed. The danger was in that immigration of Chinese from Asia, an alien population to the Pacific coast as to endanger its peace and growth and civilization. Until this danger ceased it was reasonable to continue suspension. As between the safety of our own people and privilege of Chinese laborers, should congress hesitate to say the right of American citizens must be first conserved? The Chinese immigration imperiled the Pacific coast and would continue to do so until the American population had grown in strength and civilization to such an extent that Chinese population should be but a harmless drop in the bucket. Under the constitution states had no power to restrict immigration, that authority was vested in congress. Should congress turn to the entreaties and prayers of the people of the Pacific coast and say, "You cannot help yourselves under the constitution and we will not help you." He maintained that it was the duty of congress to listen to the voice of the smallest

[illegible] [illegible] the people of the Pacific coast must be respected. In this matter [illegible] he said: [illegible] [illegible] would perpetuate peace and harmony to the generations which are to come in this great American union that is growing in strength and power it will be by that magnetism of spirit which, bearing malice to none will breed wisdom in our own councils and make us go forward with one common destiny, the liberty of our people under the constitutional union established by our fathers. (Applause.)

Hawk of Illinois advocated limitation of the time of suspension to 10 years.

Kasson of Iowa then offered his amendment limiting the time of suspension to 10 years.

The house then adjourned.

Washington, March [illegible]

When the Chinese bill came up in the house today Richardson of South Carolina expressed his intention of voting for the bill as a measure of protection to American labor though his preference would be to reduce the term of suspension to ten years.

Wise of Pennsylvania contended that unrestricted Chinese immigration would result in great injury to the material interests of the country and for that reason would give the bill his hearty support.

Morse, of Massachusetts based his objection to the bill upon the ground that it would destroy commerce between the United States and China. The markets of the latter country would be forever closed against us by a bad policy which had nothing to recommend except a small and mean temporary advantage. He would vote against the bill, regarding it as undemocratic, unrepublican and un-American, dangerous to the United States as a nation and injurious to commerce.

[illegible] took the floor [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] bill [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Indiana took up and replied in [illegible] to the objections presented by advocates of the bill against the unrestricted immigration of Chinese and opposed the measure because it violated the solemn treaty of the government and because it made discriminations founded upon race and color.

Debate on the Chinese bill was continued by [illegible] [illegible] Townshend of Illinois in favor, and [illegible] of Massachusetts against. Numerous amendments were offered and Page at 3 o'clock demanded the previous question, which was seconded by a practically unanimous vote. One hour being allowed for closing debate Page yielded ten minutes to Robinson to finish his remarks. He denounced the bill in its present shape as a violation of the treaty, but said he would vote for ten years suspension.

Sherwin of Illinois admitted that the bill was a departure from the traditions of the country and agreed the time for that departure had come, and expressed his intention of voting for the bill as it stood.

Hazelton, of Wisconsin spoke in advocacy of the bill. In exercise of power delegated to congress by the constitution one of two things must be done: either to make provisions for enfranchisement of the Chinese or enforce strictly the stipulations of the treaty.

Pacheco replied to the doubts which had been expressed as to whether the better class of California society was in favor of the measure by sending to the clerk's desk and having read a description in San Francisco newspapers of the great anti-Chinese meetings held there which stated the meeting was attended by the most respectable element of California.

Townshend of Illinois, after expressing his intention to support the bill, proceeded to argue that it was a democratic measure and that if it became a law all that would be due to the democrats of the senate and house of representatives assisted by a small minority of the republican party.

Robinson of Massachusetts argued in support of certain amendments which he had to offer, the first of them being to strike out the 17th section which defines the meaning of the word labor as covering skilled and unskilled labor. If the word labor as in the treaty intended all laborers there was no necessity of the provision, and if the congress could not give it that meaning. He would also move to reduce the time of suspension from 20 to 10 years. Page then took the floor for closing the general debate by yielding ten minutes to Robinson of Massachusetts who concluded his argument.

Page then took the floor to close the debate. [illegible] bill would pass with an amendment. The gentleman from Iowa (Kasson) came here and under cloak of an amendment he (Page) saw the dagger of an assassin which would stab the bill to death. He believed that there was a persistent determination on the part of those who opposed, to force an amendment. Page closed the debate with a brief and vigorous defense of the bill and an earnest appeal for its passage.

The amendment reducing the term of suspension to [illegible] years was rejected—[illegible] against [illegible].

The amendment reducing the term of suspension to 10 years was rejected—[illegible] nays against [illegible] yeas.

The Butterworth amendment limiting suspension to 15 years was lost without a call of yeas and nays. A large number of amendments were then voted upon but were all lost without division being called. The bill passed—yeas to nays. Following is the vote:

Yeas—Aiken, Aldrich, Armfield, Atkins, Bayne, Belford, Belmont, Berry, Bingham, Blackburn, Blanchard, Bliss, Blount, Brewer, Brumm, Buckner, Burrows of Missouri, Butterworth, Cabell, Caldwell, Calkins, Campbell, Cannon, Cassidy, Cass, [illegible] Chalmers, Chapman, Clark, Clements, Cobb, Converse, Cook, Cornell, Cox of New York, Cox of North Carolina, Covington, Cravens, Culberson, Curtin, Darrell, Davidson, Davis of Illinois, Davis of Missouri, De Motte, Deuster, Dezendorf, Dibble, Dibrell, Dowd, Dugro, Dunnell, [illegible] Errett, Farwell of Illinois, Finley, Flower, Ford, Forney, Fulkerson, Garrison, Geddes, George, Gibson, Goulder, Guenther, Hammond of Georgia, Hardy, Harmer, Harris of New Jersey, Haskell, Hatch, Hazelton, Heilman, Herndon, Hewitt of New York, Hill, Hiscock, Holman, Hooker, Horr, House, Hubbell, Hubbs, Hutchins, [illegible] of Texas, Jones of Arkansas, Jorgenson, Kenna, King, Klotz, Knott, Ladd, Leedom, Lewis, Marsh, Martin, Mason, McCoid, McKenzie, McKinley, McLane, McMillin, Miller, Mills, of [illegible], Money, Morse, Moulton, Murch, [illegible], O'Neill, Pacheco, Page, Paul, Payson, Peelle, Phelps, Phister, Pound, Randall, Reagan, Rice of Missouri, Richardson, Robertson, Robinson, Rosecrans, Scranton, Shallenberger, Sherwin, Simonton, Singleton of Mississippi, Smith of Pennsylvania, Smith of Illinois, Smith of New York, Sparks, Spaulding, Speer, Springer, Stockslager, Strait, Talbott, Thomas, Thompson of Kentucky, Tillman, Townsend of Ohio, Townshend of Illinois, Tucker, Turner of Georgia, Turner of Kentucky, Upson, Urner, [illegible], Valentine, Vance, Van Horn, Warner, Washburn, Weaver, Wellborn, Whitthorne, Williams of Alabama, Willis, Willits, Wise of Georgia, Wise of Virginia, Wood of New York—167.

Sherman [illegible] [illegible] referred to the committee on foreign relations. [illegible]

[illegible] from the committee on agriculture reported a favorable bill for the establishment of an animal industry bureau, and [illegible] diseases among domestic animals.

The tariff commission bill then came up and Garland made a speech favoring reference of the subject of the tariff to members of congress rather than to experts appointed by the president.

Vance moved an amendment to the bill directing that in the selection of members of the commission the president shall give representation to the agriculturists and manufacturing interests in proportion to the capital invested and number of persons engaged therein. The bill then went over.

Dawes, from the appropriation committee reported the Indian appropriation bill with sundry amendments. These increased the appropriations for the support of the Sioux Indians about $160,000 making the aggregate amount appropriated, $1,567,[illegible] also appropriating $50,000 to provide for erection of school buildings and for school purposes in Indian territory and on the Sioux reservation in Dakota, also appropriating $17,000 to provide for the support and education of 100 Indian children in state schools, not more than 20 pupils to be educated in any one state.

After executive session the senate adjourned.

Organization of the Red Cross.

Washington, March 23.—The following call has been issued:

To the American People: The president having signed the treaty of the Geneva conference, and the senate having ratified the president's action, the American association of the Red Cross, organized under the provisions of said treaty, purposes at once to send its agent among the sufferers by the flood with a view to ameliorating their condition so far as can be done by human aid and the means at hand will admit of. Contributions are urgently solicited. Remittances in money may be made to Hon. Chas. J. Folger, secretary of the treasury, chairman of the board of trustees or to his associates Hon. R. T. Lincoln, secretary of war and Hon. G. B. Loring, commissioner of agriculture. Contributions of wearing apparel are needed and provisions should be addressed to the Red Cross agent at Memphis, Tenn., Vicksburg, Miss. and Helena, Ark. Signed—Clara Barton, Bancroft Davis, Frederick Douglass, Alex. Y. P. Garnett, Mrs. Omar D. Conger, A. S. Solomon, Mrs. S. A. Martha Canfield, R. D. Mussey.

More Rations Wanted.

By order of the secretary of war 300,000 rations for overflowed sections are being delivered to the commissioner. 50,000 rations were sent to Atchafalaya. The rations issued for 22,000 people for 15 days will soon be exhausted. 30,000 people apply for rations. This number cannot be supplied unless additional rations are received. Provisions will be shipped daily until all are supplied or the stock exhausted there. [illegible] and at the disposal of the government. The Times-Democrat furnished the state commissioner with forage for distribution and then bought a steamer for the continued use of [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] oats, bran and hay for sufferers. East Carroll stock is reported to be dying by hundreds. Apprehensions are felt that people will not plant a crop even if the water recedes in time on account of the loss of stock.

DEATH OF MART HOLBROOK.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.

YAKIMA CITY, W. T., March 16.

Among the many energetic young men who came to Oregon in early days to seek fortunes in new fields was Mart Holbrook. He left his home in New York in 1854. Shortly after his arrival he commenced work at his trade, ship carpenter for the O. S. N. Co. As a testimonial of their appreciation of his ability he was retained in that capacity for [illegible] years. At last growing weary of working for wages he came into Yakima county and settled in a little valley known as the Ahtanum creek country. Here he toiled along as all new settlers [illegible] making himself luxuries and being content with the necessities of life until his lands changed [illegible]. He had accumulated a goodly portion of this world's goods. He had taken great pains to improve and beautify his home and the doors of his cottage were ever open to the weary traveler. After a lingering illness Mr. Holbrook died on Sunday the 12th inst. He was about 48 years of age and left no relatives. His remains were followed to their last resting place by a host of friends. The day was very stormy and many brought tents and pitched them in the yard to shelter themselves from the blinding snow storm, the house being too small to accommodate the many that came to pay the last tribute of respect to their departed friend. "ARGO."

CITY.

A Strange Request.—Last night a man about forty years old, of average height, having the appearance of a laboring man, walked into Dr. Watkins' office and startled the occupants, after customary salutation, by saying that he wanted his right eye taken out. Suspecting that the man was either blind or attempting to perpetrate a joke, the doctor asked him his reason for wanting the eye extracted. The man replied that the eye was perfectly good but that late last night while in bed, his father, who has been dead some years, came to his bedside and told him that his right eye would give him great trouble unless he had it taken out. Thinking he would frighten the man, he got a lance, and after telling him to hold his head back, he pretended to be about to cut the eye out, and even pricked the skin, but the man only told him to hurry up, and be done with it. The doctor then came to the sensible conclusion that he had run across a "crank," and turned him over to a policeman, who took him to the station house, where the man gave his name as Gabriel Ross, said he was a ship carpenter, and repeated the same story of why he wanted his eye out. When his knife was being taken away from him he begged that he might be allowed to keep it, so that he could perform the operation himself. He appeared very rational when talking upon other subjects.

Prize Essays.—Yesterday afternoon twenty-two essays on "Kindness to Animals," written by pupils of the high school for prizes, were handed to the examining committee, consisting of Mrs. Henderson, Rev. T. L. Eliot and Dr. R. T. Keene. They will render a decision to-day. Two prizes are offered, the first, a steel engraving, "Pharaoh's Horses," offered by W. T. Scanahan; the second, $10, offered by the Oregon Humane Society. The essays which receive the prizes will be read at the annual meeting of the society next Tuesday evening.

Embezzler Express Agent.—Yesterday C. C. Livingston, who embezzled between $300 and $400 from Wells, Fargo & Co., while acting as their agent at Alkali, pleaded guilty to one charge in the state circuit court at The Dalles, and will be sentenced to-day. After the defalcation, assuming the name of C. M. Crooks, he attempted to make his escape, but was arrested through the efforts of Eugene Shelby, the district agent.

Death from Injuries.—Louis Whittimer, a German laborer in the employ of the O. R. & N. Co., who was injured by a caving embankment falling on him while at work in East Portland a few days ago, died at the company's hospital Tuesday night from the effects of his injuries. He was an old California miner and is said to have a brother in Australia.

Death of Mrs. Goodnough.—Wednesday afternoon the wife of Mr. Ira Goodnough died at her residence in this city, aged forty-three years. Mrs. Goodnough was a resident of Portland for twenty-two years, and was noted for kindness and charity. She leaves four children, two sons and two daughters. The funeral will take place this afternoon at two from the Unitarian church.

The Tug Company. — Yesterday afternoon the subscribers to a fund for operating a new and powerful tug on the Columbia river bar held a meeting and appointed Messrs. Donald Macleay, Ellis G. Hughes and W. J. Burns a committee to prepare articles of incorporation, and proceed to business. Subscriptions to date are $75,000.

Second Operation.—Dr. G. M. Wells yesterday performed a second operation, by means of aspiration, upon the man George Siffait. The instrument withdraws all detrimental substance from the diseased spot and at the same time prevents any air getting at the wound.

Limb Broken.—Dan Magnan was brought to St. Vincent's hospital yesterday from The Dalles with the bones of his left leg fractured. He met with the accident while at work on the railroad grade near Hood river. Dr. Rix was called to reduce the fracture.

Cases Disposed of.—John Weymeir and Samuel J. Tracy were both arraigned in the United States court yesterday charged with selling whisky to Indians. They plead guilty and were each fined $10 and 30 days in the county jail. The fines were paid.

Reward Offered.—The wife of Joseph M. Fletcher the Vancouver lawyer who mysteriously disappeared a week ago offers a reward of $100 for information which will lead to a knowledge of his whereabouts, and the lodge of Masons offer $50 additional.

Landed Safely.—An engine and twenty cars were safely landed yesterday from the barge Wyatchie to the O. R. & N. Co.'s new grounds below Albina. Three miles of track has been laid and the work of filling will commence to-morrow.

Review Granted.—Judge Stott yesterday granted a review of the case of James E. Walsh, which took place in the police court some time since. Walsh was charged with having resisted an officer performing his duties.

Church Entertainment.—An entertainment consisting of select readings, singing in solo and chorus, and a nice lunch, will be held at Hall street M. E. church at 8 o'clock to-night. Admission to 25 cents.

Quarters Changed.—The school clerk's office has been moved from Morrison street between Fifth and Sixth to the southeast corner of Third and Madison.

GREAT SALE.

Dear reader (and your name is legion), while engaged in the multifarious avocations of life, don't forget that on next Monday, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the great auction sale of the Caruthers donation takes place on the ground, where purchasers can see what they are buying. The sale is positive, and if it brings a million dollars or one, it will be the same. It will be a fine opportunity for small investors to get a foot-hold. There are some very desirable residence sites on it, overlooking the river, hills and the locks, some fine carp ponds, some good garden land, and some beautiful timber tracts. So come right along and bring your neighbor. Terms of sale, all sums below $40 cash in hand, above that amount time will be given with proper security and ruling interest.

THE SPECIAL JEWELRY SALE.

There never was a time in the trade of Portland when so good an opportunity was offered for the purchase of fine jewelry at net wholesale cost, as during the present sale of the stock of the late John Van Buerden. Every one who has looked through the store is free to acknowledge that the goods were selected with rare taste, and that the stock contains nothing but first-class wares of latest patterns. Those who need jewelry, diamonds or watches for present or future use, will save money by making purchases before the sale ends.

Dayton, W. T., March 23.—On the 21st a sack containing between $451 and $500 was taken from M. P. Charles' safe in the Columbia hotel when Charles was out. Frank Day, a typo of Pomeroy, was arrested in Walla Walla last night and brought back to-day charged with the burglary and circumstances point strongly to his guilt.

CONUNDRUMS ANSWERED.

Portland, March 23, 1882.

To the Editor of The Oregonian:

I wish to ask a few questions through the columns of your journal on a subject which I deem to be of vital importance to the citizens of this city. The questions are: 1. Is there any instance of ocean steamers or large sailing vessels passing through drawbridges? 2. There is general value of our present city real estate (on a [illegible] estimate) of one hundred millions of dollars, would not the value of the property be depreciated some forty per cent. by putting a drawbridge across the Willamette below the city? 3. Is it the intention of the bridge builders, the Oregon and Transcontinental, to remove the present city of Portland to some point below its present site? An early reply is respectfully requested. [illegible]

1. At this moment we cannot answer whether there is any instance of ocean steamers or large sailing vessels passing through drawbridges or not. Some reader may be prepared to answer at once. But we are not aware of anything which would render the passage of ocean steamers and large sailing vessels through drawbridges impracticable, if course they can pass. Hence whether any other people have ever found it desirable to pass ocean craft through drawbridges or not, we cannot doubt it to be desirable. Every bridge not built at a great height is, however, somewhat in the way of navigation, though only small craft have to pass it.

2. We do not suppose that a bridge built at the proposed point just above the head of Swan Island, would injure the value of property in the city a single penny. On the contrary, such bridges as it would bring all the railroads into the city and establish the great depot here, would be a vast benefit to all the real estate of the city.

3. Nor do we suppose the construction of the bridge would remove the city of Portland to some point below its present site. Portland is always full of spooks that threaten the real estate market. The man who has a few lots, bought for speculation, usually manages to keep himself in a fever of alarm. It is to be observed, however, that questions like the above usually grow out of the eagerness of property holders in different parts of the city to have the depot so located as, in their judgment, would make a little "boom" in their own direction. The proposed bridge, being only for railroad purposes, would stand open. It would be closed only when passenger trains arrive. Freight trains will stop at the depot on the east side. Isn't it about time for Portland people to look at things in the light of common sense, and cease to fear that every proposition to do anything covers a conspiracy against property? If, however, as a result of the construction of the proposed bridge, Portland should be extended further down the river, it would simply be a bigger city than now, and new chances for speculation in real estate would be opened in that direction. No doubt it would make "'em" rich if he did not allow himself to miss the opportunity. We are not afraid that Portland will grow too far either up or down the river, or in any other direction.

NEW MARKET THEATER.

A good house welcomed Sheridan's Bijou company last night at the New Market, being a decidedly fashionable audience. The olio was given first. Miss Annie Gleason sang first, and it was very evident that she was just off a sea-voyage; but when she recovers her voice she may make a sensation. Miss Nellie Holbrook recited the "Wreck of Marblehead" and was recalled by a downright noisy encore, in response to which she gave "The Picket Guard" in a rapturous style. Next came the new man, Mr. Hawley Chapman, in a negro's folk-lore recital, entitled "Christmas at the Quarters," which placed him so thoroughly en rapport with his auditors that he was at once installed as a prime favorite. He responded to an urgent encore with a low Dutch stump-speech that was funny enough for Gus Williams himself. Next came Sheridan in his masterly recitation of "Eugene Aram," and he was well received, giving the "Seven Ages" as an encore. Miss Gleason sang the "Flower Girl," and then came the comedy of "Still Waters Run Deep," which dragged painfully, notwithstanding the fact that the parts seemed well rehearsed. Our scant space and the lateness of the hour permits us to devote only a word or two to Mr. Hawley Chapman's Hawksley, which is one of the most arduous parts in the whole range of English comedy. This young gentleman's rendition of the part showed that he had spared no study in the speaking of his lines, but he has posture and facial expression to learn hereafter. His scene with Miss Holbrook was marred only by an evident nervousness on her part, being solicitous for his welfare in that wonderfully severe test of an actor's powers. Miss Davenport and Mr. Sheridan will improve their parts on a second performance, and now that Mr. Chapman has passed safely through his ordeal, Miss Holbrook's rendition of the aunt will be better than ever. We append the cast of the piece here and elsewhere to show how unjust it would be to draw comparisons under the circumstances:

Characters.	San Francisco, 1869.	Portland, 1882.
John Mildmay	Jno. McCullough	W. E. Sheridan.
Capt. Hawksley	Lawrence Barrett	H. Chapman.
Mrs. Sternhold	Mrs. D. P. Bowers	Miss Holbrook.

This evening the company play at Vancouver and on Saturday afternoon they give a matinee performance here. On Monday they leave for a tour of eastern Oregon and Washington Territory.

THE COLUMBIA ASHORE.

She Runs on a Rock outside San Francisco Harbor, but Reaches the Mud Flats in Safety.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

San Francisco, March 23.—The steamer Columbia from Portland, on entering the harbor this morning during a dense fog, went on the rocks just outside Fort Point. She was towed off at high tide and made rapid speed for the mud flats of Mission Bay, where she arrived with water up to her fires and the damage [illegible] in it. The damage will be considerable.

Mr. C. H. Prescott, manager of the O. R. & N. Co., received the following telegram from Goodall, Perkins & Co. yesterday afternoon:

San Francisco, March 23.—The Columbia grounded outside Fort Point, coming in this morning in a thick fog; remained ashore about one hour, when she got off with the assistance of tugs. She is now on the mud flats, Mission Bay. She leaks some, but the water is now being reduced by the ship's pumps. She will have to go on the dry dock to ascertain and repair damage. Will commence loading Willamette. [illegible] take freight in place of the Columbia.

Narrow Escape from Wrecking.

San Francisco, March 23.—The Columbia's escape from becoming a complete wreck may be considered very narrow, as she struck just about the same place where the Frank Jones was lost a few years ago. The leak in the vessel compelled her to pass her dock at the foot of Spear street and run on the mud flats at the foot of Fourth street to save her from sinking, as she was leaking badly. Shortly after word was sent to the agent's office of the company that there was considerable water in the engine room, but the steam pumps were rapidly lowering it. As soon as the vessel was run upon the flats a tug came alongside and took the passengers ashore. Two barges were then sent out to take off the freight, which it was proposed to unload, but this plan was apparently abandoned, as the vessel was soon after backed off the flats, with the intention of placing her on the merchants dry dock at the foot of Spear street. Later in the afternoon the vessel was again run on the flats and commenced to discharge cargo. After all the cargo shall have been taken out she will be placed on the dry dock and repaired. The hole in her hull is about nine inches square. The damage to the vessel is thought to be slight.

[The Oregon Improvement Company's collier Willamette, Captain Meyer, will leave San Francisco March 27th, in place of the Columbia. She has accommodations for 45 cabin passengers, and bunks will be fitted up to accommodate 500 in the steerage. Her freight carrying capacity is greater than the Columbia. The Umatilla, which is nearly ready to sail with a deck load of locomotives and tenders for the O. R. & N. Co., will also bring full cargo of general merchandise. Should repairs to the Columbia be delayed, and the business demand, the company will bring into requisition the Walla Walla and Mississippi. At any rate the traffic between San Francisco and Portland will not be permitted to suffer by reason of the unfortunate accident.]

ANOTHER FIRE AT JUNCTION.

The large Flouring Mill Destroyed—Loss over $40,000; Insurance $22,000.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Junction City, March 23.—At 1 o'clock this morning the Junction City flouring mills, owned by Kratz, Washburne & Howard, caught fire and burned to ashes by 3 o'clock. The fire is supposed to have originated in the purifying room near the top of the main building. The flames spread very rapidly and lit up the town and country for miles around. There was 20,000 bushels of wheat in the mill, about 14,000 of which was owned by the mill company. A. G. Hyland loses 1200 bushels wheat; Sam Meek 3000 bushels; Mrs. Lewis 450 bushels; Howard loses 300 bushels, and the rest was owned in small lots by farmers. The mill and machinery was worth $25,000, and was insured in various companies for $15,000. There was $7000 insurance on the wheat in the mill. This is a sad loss to the community and to the mill company in particular. These mills were the most successful in the state and the new firm of Kratz, Washburne & Howard were making preparations for extensive improvements. At writing the large Hall safe in the mill office has not been reached, and some fears are entertained for the safety of the books, notes and papers, all of which are in the safe. There is also a considerable amount of [illegible] contained in the safe. The fire originated, it is supposed, from natural causes, as it was first discovered near the top of the roof of the main building.

MILITARY AND PERSONAL.

[Vancouver Independent.]

Capt. John C. White, 1st artillery, from Fort Stevens, has been visiting the post this week.

A petition for the pardon of Sergeant Mason, the soldier who fired at Guiteau, contains [illegible] names.

Capt. Robt. Pollock, 21st infantry, Fort Townsend has been granted a leave of absence for 60 days from the 22d inst.

On March 22d Lieut. S. S. Parke, 21st infantry, was ordered to New York, to accompany a detachment of recruits to these headquarters.

Mr. R. R. [illegible], formerly signal service operator at Roseburg, Or., has been discharged the service to engage in private pursuits.

On May 1st Lieut. Guy Howard, 12th infantry, will be relieved from duty at the Fortress Monroe artillery school, and join his regiment.

Capt. John M. Dickson, assistant surgeon, U. S. A., recently stationed at Vancouver barracks, has reported in New York city, where he awaits orders.

Gen. O. O. Howard's youngest son, Gussie, is lying very sick at his residence, and recovery is doubtful. In spite, the child was some better yesterday morning.

Captain John A. Kress, department inspector general, leaves within a day or two on his annual tour of inspection, first to Forts Coeur d'Alene, Spokane, Colville, etc.

A lithograph map of the department has just been received from the engravers in New York, and will shortly be issued in connection with the new roster now in the hands of the printers.

A petition for circulation among the officers, asking for compulsory retirement at the age of 62, is now going the rounds of this department. It will be returned, when completed, to Lieut. F. H. E. Ebstein, 21st infantry, at David's Island, N. Y.

It is reported, but not officially, that in the event of Gen. Rufus Ingalls being confirmed as quartermaster general, Gen. Sawtelle will be transferred from the department of the south to the post now held by Gen. Ingalls in New York city.

Jas. T. Perkins, formerly in the signal service, stationed at Umatilla, later at Portland, and resigned the service two years ago, died of consumption at Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 18. He was regarded as one of the most expert operators in the service.

Lieut. Van Ness, 1st artillery, arrived at headquarters yesterday, with a detachment of infantry recruits. He will conduct 60 to Fort Coeur d'Alene for distribution among the companies of the 2d infantry, and then return to Presidio, Cal. The remaining 50 are apportioned to the 21st infantry.

Maj. G. M. Downey, captain 21st infantry, has been granted a leave of absence for two months, with permission to apply for an extension of six months more. In all probability we shall lose Maj. Downey for good, as his regiment will be likely to leave this department before his leave expires.

It is reported that the recent survey made by Capt. J. Q. Adams, 1st cavalry, for a signal service telegraph line down the Columbia on the north side, will have to be set aside, in which event the line will run from Astoria to Fort Stevens, thence crossing the Columbia by cable, and down the north side to Cape Disappointment.

The Annual Army Register for 1882, just published by the war department, contains some very interesting facts connected with the personal records of officers. Five officers received the thanks of congress: Generals Sherman, Sheridan, Hancock, Howard and Terry. General Sherman was twice thanked by congress, a distinction not shared by any other officer in the army. Only ten officers out of 2381 whose names appear in the Register received brevets for "conspicuous gallantry" in battle in the war of the rebellion. Among them are Henry A. Morrow, colonel 21st infantry; A. P. Morrow major 9th cavalry; Charles H. Sellmer, first lieutenant 1st artillery; Henry C. Merriam, lieutenant colonel 2d infantry; Samuel R. Schwenk, on retired list as captain; Samuel McConihe, captain 14th infantry. The only officer in the army who has a brevet for "distinguished and conspicuous gallantry" is Col. H. A. Morrow, 21st infantry. This officer and Col. August V. Kautz, 8th infantry, both now colonels of regiments, were private soldiers in the Mexican war. Two officers, Col. Z. B. Tower, corps of engineers, and Truman Seymour, on the retired list as major, have eight brevets each. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding the department of the Columbia, was breveted for highly meritorious and distinguished conduct throughout a campaign, and particularly for gallantry and valuable services in the battle of Ream's station, Va. The new register contains several valuable features which were not in former editions.

Police Force to be Increased.

Winnipeg, March 23.—Official information has been received at the Indian department here that the dominion government has decided to increase the northwest mounted police to 500. It is said the present force is overtaxed, and officers have expressed themselves to the government on the necessity of a larger force.

In the effort to blacken the reputation of President Garfield, the stalwarts and the democratic press have been drawn very closely together. Guiteau's work is being ably seconded by the combination.—Chicago Tribune.

A woman has just walked with an infant child from Philadelphia to Chicago. As there were no outstanding bets on her and no gate money, she had to go to the work house."

vested in their works than the Ohio Falls Car Company, but give employment to a less number of men. The next largest works are located at Terre Haute; fourth, at Cambridge City; fifth, at Indianapolis; sixth, at Lafayette; seventh, at Elkhart; eighth, at Laporte. It may be said that Pennsylvania builds more cars than does Indiana, but to support this statement it would be necessary to include car works which are owned largely and operated chiefly by the Erie and Pennsylvania railroad companies, but not independent enterprises like the car establishments of Indiana.—Indianapolis Journal.

that it takes an hour and a half to make a pair, and they sell for 35 cents. It is all done by hand labor, with saw-knives, bits and long-handled gouges.

The city of Oshkosh, located on Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin, where lumber is handy, is [illegible] pretty vigorously about its manufactures. It makes more sash, doors and blinds than any other town in the country, and claims to produce one-tenth of the whole, has the biggest carriage factory in the northwest, and thinks its total manufactures last year approximated $15,000,000.

seemed to regard them in any other light. The act of congress of August 14, 1848, for the government of the Oregon territory, employs language even stronger and more explicit than that of the act for the government of the territory south of the Ohio. It declared that the inhabitants of said territory shall be entitled to enjoy all and singular the rights, privileges and advantages granted and secured to the people of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio, by the articles of compact contained in the ordinance for the government of said territory on the 13th day of July,

TUCSON, March 2[illegible].—The coroner's jury which were empaneled in the case of the assassination of Frank Stilwell returned a verdict that he came to his death from shots fired by Wyatt and Warren Earp, Doc Holliday, Texas Jack alias Johnson and [illegible] Masters.

Intelligence received to-night says that the Earp party are at Benson. It is thought by many that they will arrive here to-night [illegible] surrender to the authorities or make way with [illegible]. It is now [illegible] known that after the killing of Stilwell they searched for Clanton for some time before leaving Tucson. This morning about [illegible] eight mounted men heavily armed were seen on the outskirts of the city. Their animals were jaded, having apparently traveled a long distance. They are supposed to be friends of Stillwell from Tombstone, a party of whom left that place last night. Latest accounts say that Sheriffs Paul and Behan are out with an organized force to take the party, and a strong posse of armed men are organized here to enforce law. The indignation of the citizens of Tucson is growing more and more intense. To-morrow will undoubtedly develop the real intention of the fugitives.

Victoria Notes.

VICTORIA, March 23.—The Island railway bill was laid before the house to-day. Clements, Jordan and Rhodes of San Francisco and Clarke, Turner and Earl of Victoria are the promoters. Capital stock $4,000,000, shares $1000 each. Ten miles of the road are to be constructed, equipped and in running order by the 1st of July, 1883, and the line to be completed to Nanaimo by July 1, 1886, and to Seymour Narrows by 1890. The track is to be of the uniform gauge of 4 feet 8½ inches. The lands asked for are 1,900,000 acres.

The government only escaped defeat to-day by the casting vote of the speaker on a question of representation.

The steamship Elder arrived from San Francisco at 6 o'clock this evening.

LEWISTON, March 23.—Allen Boise, an old and well known citizen of Lewiston, was thrown from a wagon this afternoon, run over and killed.

Refuses to Recommend Action.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 23.—The czar has refused to confirm recommendations of the commission on the Jewish question in favor of compelling Jews to quit rural districts on the grounds that such expulsion would almost ruin agriculture, and the recommendations are generally conceived to be in a vindictive spirit.

Italy Protests.

TUNIS, March 23.—The Italian consul has lodged a formal protest against the concessions to a French company as a flagrant violation of the treaty between Italy and the bey of Tunis.

THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

Clark & Johnson have struck a rich quartz vein on Onion creek, forty miles west of Baker City, an assay from which shows $360 in gold and 29 ounces of silver.

The town of Pendleton is to have water works. The spring from which the water is to be brought is about 2½ miles northeast of town, on the Indian reservation.

Beef has taken a boom in Grant county. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining fat cattle, butchers have advanced the price of beef to 10, 12 and 15 cents per pound for the several grades. As soon as grass is good again the price will come down.

An agreement on the part of the present owners of the lands of the Dalles Military Road Co. to sell to Lei[illegible] Payne & Co., Chicago, has been filed for record in the clerk's office of this county. The number of acres to be transferred is 563,557 89-100. The price to be paid is $600,000, $160,000 by April 1, and the balance in bi-monthly payments of $140,000 each, beginning with July 1. It is provided that if L. P. & Co. transfer the lands to an incorporated company of London, England, the bonds of such company to the amount of $420,000 shall be accepted in lieu of the last three cash payments. The above lands are situated in the counties of Grant, Baker and Wasco.

A Tygh valley, Wasco county, correspondent under date of March 14th says: We are still locked in winter's icy embrace, the ground being frozen from four to six inches deep. It is quite a surprise to one going from here to The Dalles now. Here we are completely frozen in, waiting for spring to open, but on getting down near The Dalles, we see the farmers seeding and plowing, wild flowers blooming, the hills getting green, and the balmy breezes of spring make one think surely they are in another climate. But we are not discouraged, for we know from past experience that we can sow our grain one month later here than in the region nearer The Dalles and then raise a better crop.

One of the most successful placer miners in Eastern Oregon is Mr. Dan Cairn. For some time he has worked his placer grounds near Auburn, which have yielded him quite an extensive revenue, and the past week he purchased the adjoining mines of Mr. Pobst, and his mines now cover an area of ten miles following the base of the mountains in Poverty, Mill and Deer creek districts. But surface mining only has been done thus far and in no case has bedrock been reached, and many thousands of dollars in gold dust has been taken from his mine. The property just purchased is believed to be equally as rich in mineral wealth as his original mine, and in addition thereto he becomes possessed of two natural lakes or reservoirs covering an area of about fifteen acres each, which will hold sufficient water to work the mines for a long time. At a small expense in making dams, water in these reservoirs can be increased ten feet in depth. In an ordinary season the water from the snow in the mountains will work his mine until about the 1st of August; by the addition of these reservoirs the working of the mines can be continued until everything freezes up in the winter.

Western Oregon.

The common council of Salem has fixed the liquor license of that city at $300, malt liquors $100 per annum.

Mrs. C. M. Foutz, formerly of Clackamas county, but lately of The Dalles, has been placed in the insane asylum. An attack of puerperal fever left her a complete mental wreck, though hopes are entertained that proper treatment will restore her reason.

John Walker was arrested by deputy sheriff Minto of Marion county a few days since for disturbing the public exercises at Christmas time at Jefferson. He plead guilty and was fined $50 and costs, in default of which he is serving out a term of 25 days in the county jail.

Southern Oregon.

Flour sells for $25 per thousand in Roseburg and $15 in Jacksonville.

Gardening is being done in Jackson county. Feed for stock is becoming plentiful.

The Jackson county democratic convention will be held at Jacksonville March 25.

Fruit prospects throughout Douglas and Jackson counties are good. The late spring has kept the buds back.

The wife of W. S. Johnson of Table Rock precinct, Jackson county, was severely hurt by a cow one day last week. She was in the act of driving the animal, which has a young calf, to the barnyard when she was suddenly attacked and badly gored. Her injuries, though serious, are not of a fatal character.

Those traveling the road between Jacksonville and Roseburg will find rates for forage and meals increased henceforth. Hay all along the line is now $30 per ton, feeding 37½ cents per head, and it is understood that meals and lodging per night will be increased to $1 for each person. This may look a little like monopoly on the part of farmers, but travelers will have to stand it or stay at home.

Jacksonville Times: A little daughter was born to Dr. and Mrs. Aiken last Wednesday, representing the fifth generation of living persons with but one broken link—its grandmother, the wife of Alex Martin, having died here about four years ago. The great grandmother is Mrs. W. W. Fowler of Oakland, Cal., and the great great grandmother is the venerable Mrs. Myer of Ashland, now 90 years of age. It is a singular fact that the first child of each of the five generations has been a girl.

Washington Territory.

P. P. Allen has just completed the plans for the Walla Walla city jail and engine house combined. It is to be a brick structure 30x60 feet and two stories high, with bell tower, and is a model of neatness and utility. The first floor is to be used by an engine company and the hook and ladder company as a place to keep their apparatus, while in the rear is the city jail with seven cells. The second story will be used for a meeting hall for the fire companies. The police court room will also be on this floor.

P. T. Auer, dealer in guns, rifles, revolvers, powder, shot, etc., has removed to 89 Second street, between Stark and Oak. Country trade solicited.

DIPHTHERIA!

REMEMBER THIS—THAT IT IS POSITIVELY worse than murder to allow any case to prove fatal without trying McLELLAN'S DIPHTHERIA and FEVER REMEDIES. They will positively cure, even after all else has failed. No preparation on earth can equal these remedies for Throat or Troubles or Fevers of all kinds.

The Diphtheria Remedy alone is a sure preventive and certain to stop its spread. It acts like magic in Croup and Whooping Cough. It will cure any Sore Throat. They are not speculative. Any Druggist can get them for you at HODGE, DAVIS & CO.'S Wholesale Drug House, Portland, Oregon.
